

The Mail Ego

By Terrence O'Flaherty

"What's happened to Mae West? Recently, that is."

Early this year she made a rock-and-roll record album with a mop-top combo and it sounded just as good as any to me. David Merrick has recently signed her to do the lead in "Hello Dolly" on Broadway — a masterful job of casting — when Martha Raye withdraws late in June to tour Vietnam for the USO.

"What are the most popular movies being shown today in the U.S.?"

Variety Magazine's report for the week of May 24 lists the top ten this way: Casino Royale, A Man for All Seasons, Thoroughly Modern Millie, The Sand Pebbles, The Bible, Hawaii, Grand Prix, Taming of the Shrew, and A Man and a Woman.

"What about the rumor that Chet Huntley and Eric Seaverid may drop out of broadcasting to run for the Senate?"

Huntley is considering the possibility of running in his native Montana against the Republican candidate. Seaverid has been thinking about running in North Dakota also on the Democratic ticket. It's still up in the air but NBC is already considering John Chancellor as the replacement for Huntley.

"We hear so much about the Hippies out in San Francisco and, as parents, it saddens us to think that for every one there must be two broken-hearted parents who miss them at home."

For every one Hippie who is missed at home there are at least two who are paid to stay AWAY from home! The Haight Ashbury has more unwanted children than lost children.

"Is the beautiful model Suzy Parker married? And if so to whom?"

She is very much married to film and TV star Bradford Dillman who once played "St. Francis of Assisi" and had a television series of his own last year titled "Court Martial."

"What would television, the theater, and movies do without old George Bernard Shaw? He provided Lerner and Loewe with the entire script for 'My Fair Lady' which brought us Julie Andrews. Then there was his 'Misalliance' which was so well done on educational television last month. Also his 'Major Barbara' that was made into that good English movie that we saw on TV this year. Where will the old devil strike next?"

On Broadway, Richard Rodgers is adapting Shaw's "Androcles and the Lion" to a musical comedy which will open this fall, co-starring Noel Coward and Norman Wisdom.

"What has become of Judy Garland? Has she retired for good?"

Stars like Garland never retire—for either good or bad. She appeared in a rather embarrassing television interview recently with Jack Paar. Her first public appearance since she dropped out of the cast of the movie "Valley of the Dolls" will be in two music fairs this month in Westbury, N.Y. and Camden, N.J.—to the tune of $25,000.

"Roger Moore in the new TV series 'The Saint' seems so familiar. What has he done before?"

He replaced Jim Garner in "Maverick" with a character named "Beau" and starred in two short runs titled "Ivanhoe" and "The Alaskans."

"I feel so sorry for Kirk Douglas. He seems to have disappeared."

Don't EVER feel sorry for Kirk Douglas. Sympathy isn't compatible with his personality. Besides that he works regularly — most recently as the voice of the Spanish conquistador on ABC's "Cortez and the Legend." His new film is "The Way West" an old fashioned western where he plays a hard disciplinarian who is the leader of a wagon train and is set upon by the passengers for his cruelties.

"Nobody turns me on like Mai Britt but I haven't seen anything about her career recently. Is she still in business?"

Show business, you mean?

CHP Probes Fatal Mechanical Failures

Captain P. J. Ford, local commander of the California Highway Patrol, announced today that the Patrol, in cooperation with Dr. Theodore J. Curphey, Los Angeles County Coroner, has joined with other selected counties in a study of the involvement of mechanical failures in single vehicle fatal accidents.

"This study, which will involve the examination of some 1500 accident damaged vehicles over a two-year period, is intended to help delineate the magnitude of gross mechanical failures in California."

Yes. She makes her television debut in a drama called "Fear Is the Chain" in which she co-stars with Van Heflin and Horst Bucholz which is now in production in Hollywood. It will be seen this fall on NBC's new series, "The Danny Thomas Hour."

nia's traffic accident picture." Captain Ford stated. "It is being funded by the Federal Bureau of Public Roads.

"Our pilot effort will be limited to single vehicle accidents in which the driver is killed, and a strong indication exists that the crash may have resulted from a gross mechanical failure in the vehicle. Each such vehicle will be examined by a qualified civilian automotive specialist already in the employ of the Patrol."

Films Slated

Three free films will be shown at 10:30 a.m. Saturday in the Children's Room of the Torrance Library, 1345 Post Ave. The films are "Riding the Big Surf," "Japanese Boy," and "Madeline."

El Camino Receives New Award

A merit award for outstanding work in publications has been received by El Camino College from the Southern California chapter of the National School Public Relations Association.

The presentation was the result of competition among school districts from throughout the Southern California area.

Two publications prepared by Don W. Brown, coordinator of public information at the college, were singled out for recognition. The President's Report, published in October, and a fold-out brochure describing the spring semester cultural events on the campus entitled "El Camino College Presents" were honored.

Art work for both publications was prepared by Milton Moyer of Gardena, technical assistant in the El Camino audio visual department.
